DO YOU REALLY

WANT A

HEALTHY NEW YEAR?

We extend every wish for a happy one, of course. But your family physician is the one who can do most to make sure that 1949 is a healthy year for you.

Plan now to see him for a complete medical check-up. The days of work and play ahead will often be strenuous—be sure you're in condition for them.

You Owe It to Your Loved Ones!

WE NOMINATE

Norvell Brockman Samuels, 48-year old publishing executive who in 1948 provided the kind of forceful, seeing leadership that early in 1949 is carrying Princeton's annual Community Chest campaign over the top for the first time in the post-war era. Confronted with the prospect of dredging some $106,000 out of a community that for three consecutive years fell well short of its Chest goals, Samuels wth characteristic energy started organizing his drive last summer, lined up an able, aggressive staff and in mid-October launched the eminently successful effort.

A trustee of Princeton Hospital for the past 14 years, and Secretary of its governing board for nearly a decade, Samuels approached the Chest assignment with a sound understanding of what makes Princeton tick. At the outset he and his associates broke with many of the precedents of recent years. They consulted newspaper editors and advertising specialists and enlisted the support of opinion-polling agencies. Publicity was localized and the base of personal solicitation broadened. The result was one of the most effective campaigns on record.

Samuels, Missouri-born and treasurer of the local chapter of the Sons of the Revolution, has been a resident of Princeton ever since graduating from the University a quarter of a century ago. A year in the Secretary's office of the University was followed by two years as Director of the Bureau of Student Employment. He was associated with the Princeton Herald from 1927 until 1935 when he took over his present positions, Sales Manager of the University Press and Advertising Manager of the Princeton Alumni Weekly.

Believing that acceptance of an office means accepting a full share of time-consuming responsibilities, Samuels has realistically restricted his "outside activities" to those organizations he feels he can serve best. In addition to working for the Hospital and the Chest, he fills a key role in the University's fund-raising programs. Chairman of the Class of 1924's Memorial Committee which in 1946 turned over $127,000 to the University, he is now Graduate Council Representative to the Princeton University Fund, Old Nassau's financial agency.

For seeing through one of the most exacting and thankless tasks any citizen can accept; for doing as much as any Princetonian in 1948 in making this community a better place in which to live; for bolstering social service undertakings at a time when such bolstering is desperately needed; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Topics of the Town

The Quest for Knowledge. Hundreds of Princetonians will be interested in the annual announcement of the Princeton Adult School, which appears on pages seven and eight in this issue of TOWN TOPICS. The 17 courses offered range from family life and bird study to modern literature and "Russia and the U.S. in the Atomic Age." An innovation of much merit will be the special course in enjoyment of music to be presented Friday nights by a special arrangement with the University Department of Music. The entire curriculum reflects a great deal of credit upon the combined facilities of this academic-minded community.

Sign-of-the-Times Note. At Zavelle's, Ike and the shmoo are neck & neck. In other words, General Eisenhower's Crusade in Europe hasn't an inch on Al Capp's Life & Times of the Shmoo in the race for best-seller honors.

Blizzard. During the first 25 days of December, the post office handled 1,072,342 pieces of first class mail, recorded a 14 per cent increase in revenues over the corresponding period in 1947. Parcel post shipments cannot be tallied, but it was the last 500 that are best remembered: they arrived via truck from Trenton at 5:30 p.m. on Christmas Eve and delivery of every package identifiable as a Christmas shipment was made throughout the following day.

Firm Foundation. One man called to ask where he could deliver a crate of oranges, and a woman wanted to give a side of pork. More clothing was contributed and a ten-year old Princeton boy (out West for his health) donated his bicycle. Another bill (this one for $41) was cancelled, and more and more gifts kept arriving throughout the week. The TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund, which had stood at $653.17 four days after the appeal had been published, climbed to $1,125.16. In all, some 231 persons contributed.

As was the case a year ago, this publication will merely supervise the account, with the expenditure of every cent to receive prior approval from the Social Service Bureau. Subscription of nearly three times the amount asked (in cash and other gifts) will treble the strength of the foundation built for the family whose future was so rocky a fortnight ago.

"Police State." The protest that is only a hoarse whisper today as the new rules governing parking and traffic violations are about to take effect seems certain to reach a steady uproar before 1949 is more than a few weeks old. In the understandable desire (1) to kill the custom of "fixing" traffic tickets and (2) create a uniform court system for all New Jersey, the State has laid down laws that both police and magistrates have already attacked sharply as unenforcible. (The head of the association of police chiefs said flatly, "The whole plan stinks!")

To determine the choice of words many a motorist will juicily select, it is necessary only to peruse the following possibilities under the new legislation:

Mr. X, passing through Princeton from Minnesota one pleasant Spring afternoon, stops about 4 o'clock to tour the University campus and do a bit of shopping. He plans to reach a friend's house on Long Island for dinner and the night, but when he returns to his car at 5:30 he finds a ticket for overtime parking. He must pay the fine in person—and cannot do so before 9 o'clock the next morning.

Mrs. Y, driving from Maine to Texas, makes an illegal U turn in Elizabeth, for which she is summonsed. If the presiding judge sets up the court machinery most beneficial to the motorist, her case may be heard in one to 12 hours' time. If he doesn't, she can wait as long as five days.

Mr. Z, who has never been ticketed even for improper parking in 20 years behind the wheel, misses a "one-way" sign in Somerville. Six weeks later, while he is driving through Lawrenceville, his tail light burns out. In Morrisville, a few months later, he is ticketed for going 35 miles an hour in a 20 mile an hour zone. Under the new laws, these three minor offenses mean that it is clearly within the jurisdiction of the State to revoke his license for 30 days.

The State contends that none of these criticisms "will stand the light of day."

More Blessed to Give. It could be that the age of four is best of all for sheer enjoyment of Christmas. It's some time since we were an authority on the matter but we do know one young man of that vintage who became so enamored with the whole custom that he painstakingly wrapped up five presents for himself and stowed them carefully away under the tree.

At the shank end of the festivities Christmas morning, when his elders were somewhat limp, he brought them forth with a chortle of joy. Unwrapping each with a face picturing increasing surprise and pleasure, he produced (1) his last year's fire engine; (2) an equally battered jeep; (3) an empty box; (4) a wad of newspaper that did have rather an intriguing bulge until it was unveiled; and (5) a wad of cotton. "That," he said with the wisdom of one who has learned that there is both joy and sorrow in the world, "is for if I get a earache again."

Sports in Short

Full Schedules. Before the fortnight's lull for term-end examinations that starts January 16, Princeton sports followers have plenty of action from which to choose. The hockey team, facing Colgate New Year's Eve and Dartmouth Saturday afternoon, has a return engagement with Brown next Friday night in the Tigers' second Pentagonal League test. The fnst-skating Colorado six will make Princeton a matinee stop next day. Army at West Point and another Western invnder, N.C.A.A.-champion Michigan, are on the schedule before the firing dies down. All but the Army game will be played here.

The first two weeks in 1949 will give a very definite indication of just what can be expected of the Orange and Black basketball forces this season. Penn's capable court entry will open Princeton's league season Wednesday night at 8:30 in Dillon Gym. After a non-league test against Navy the following Saturday, the Tigers journey to Cambridge to face Harvard on the 11th and play host to Dartmouth on the 15th.

If it is going to challenge the leaders in the Eastern circuit, Cappy Cappon's five must sweep these three encounters. Penn is probably the best of the trio of opponents, Dartmouth is ever dangerous, while Harvard won its only league game last yenr when it topped Princeton at Cambridge.

Other home meets in early January include a wrestling match on the 8th against invariably strong

THE PLAYHOUSE

That Wonderful Urge (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) involves reporter Tyrone Power and heiress Gene Tierney in a feud that begins when he maligns her in print and she cooks up a journalistic hoax that evens the count. Fair to middling comedy.

You Gotta Stay Happy (Sun. thru Wed.) involves another heiress (Joan Fontaine) and James Stewart, the latter as pilot-manager of a small airline. The odd assortment of passengers and cargo he takes on one adventurous flight provides the basis of a generally amusing, well-acted comedy.

Fighter Squadron (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) is one of the first of a new cycle of post-war films about the war—their success to depend more on public reception of that type of subject matter than the actual standard of the picture itself. This one is stereotyped drama about U. S. fighter pilots who battle not only Goering's Luftwaffe but the misguided judgment of their own command. Edmund O'Brien heads the cast in a film buoyed by its action shots.

THE GARDEN

Walk a Crooked Mile (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) is a cops-and-robbers chase between FBI agents and a Commie spy ring after atom bomb secrets. Dennis O'Keefe, Louise Albritton in an adequate melodrama.

The Countess of Monte Cristo (Mon., Tues., Wed.) features the still outstanding Sonja Henie on skates in several picturesque carnival settings. The story (about a couple of extras in a motion picture who pose as the principals) is extremely weak.

Sealed Verdict (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) casts Ray Milland as an American prosecutor who makes sure the German general he has tried as a war criminal received a just verdict. Newcomer Florence Marly is portrayed as a French collaborator. The somewhat involved story is too slowly-paced to hold the interest.

LOST: Flexible Flyer. Airline Pilot, brand new, model 41. Initial A carved on underside rear. Reward. Tel. Hite, 52-R.

PRINCETON ADULT SCHOOL

SEVENTH SEASON

Ten Thursday Evenings
January 27—March 31
1949

The Princeton Adult School is a community project carried on by a group of Princeton citizens generously supported by the Board of Education. The School is a non-profit, self-supporting enterprise designed to bring benefit and enjoyment to those who enroll. Its courses are open to all adult residents of the Princeton community.

FACTS ABOUT THE SCHOOL

COST: A fee of $3.50 is charged for each one-hour course, and $7.00 for each two-hour course, except for the special course in music for which the fee is $5.00. In some courses (as noted in this circular) each member pays a small charge for materials used. Fees are payable at the time of registration; no refunds will be made after the second week.

Time: Except for the music course (No. 17) all courses are held for ten consecutive Thursday evenings beginning January 27 and running through March 31. There are two class periods, the first from 8.00 to 8.55 P. M., the second from 9.00 to 9.55 P. M. Five minutes is allowed for changing classes. Two one-hour courses may be taken if the hours do not conflict, or one two-hour course. The special music course will be held on ten Friday evenings, January 28 through April 1, in Clio Hall on the University Campus. This course may be taken in addition to Thursday evening courses.

PLACE: At Princeton High School, except for music course (No. 17) which will be held in Clio Hall, Campus.

REGISTRATION: Register early. This is important for two reasons: first, enrollment in some courses is limited (as noted in this circular); second, the Committee may find it necessary for financial reasons to cancel courses for which less than twenty persons enroll. You may register between 4.00 and 5.30 P. M., or between 8.00 and 9.30 P. M. on Thursday, January 20, on Monday, January 24 or on Tuesday, January 25, at the Nassau Street School Auditorium.

LIST OF COURSES

ONE-HOUR COURSES
8.00-8.55 P. M. THURSDAYS

1. Modern Literature
A course of lectures on modern novels, films and stage plays, showing the relation between modern writing and modern life. Professors Carlos Baker and Alan S. Downer, Princeton University.

2. Family Life (limited to 30)
Round-table discussions of practical problems will follow half-hour talks on these topics: Basic emotions, stages of development, child health, training methods, sex education, social adjustments, religion in the home, tensions and conflicts, parental attitudes, maturity. Dr. J. Kendall Wallis, M.D., Assistant Medical Director, National Hospital for Speech Disorders, N. Y. City, is in charge of the course. He will be assisted by Jeanette Munro, M.D. (Child Health), Gladys Poole, Ph.D., Trenton State Teachers' College (Sex education), and J. Donald Butler, Ph.D., Associate Professor of the History and Philosophy of Religious Education, Princeton Theological Seminary (Religion in the Home).

3. Bird Study
Eight lectures illustrated with specimens and two afternoons afield to give an introduction to the common birds of New Jersey. Instructor: C. H. Rogers, Curator of the Museum of Zoology, Princeton University.

4. Bridge
If you do not know contract bridge, this course will teach you the fundamentals. If you already know how to play, it will improve your game. Instructor: Mrs. Tobias Brill, Trenton.

5. Personal Typing (limited to 35)
Designed for persons with no previous instruction in typewriting. Typewriters for use during the course are furnished. A machine for outside practice is desirable but not required. To secure the best results participants should attend every session of the class. Instructor: Mrs. Maudmae Danks, Princeton High School.

6. French
Conversational French for beginners. Instructor: Robert Smyth, Princeton Country Day School.

7. Social Dancing
A chance to learn the fundamentals of social dancing, or, if you have danced before, to learn some of the newer steps. Instructor: Miss Elizabeth Guest, Princeton High School.

ONE-HOUR COURSES
9.00-9.55 P. M. THURSDAYS

8. Russia and the United States in the Atomic Age
This series of lectures will present various aspects of the world-wide struggle between the two Super-Powers. The topics will include: "The Problem and the Setting;" "Can Americans Understand Russian Behavior?" "Germany—Neither Pawn nor Partner"? "Developments in Southeastern Europe"; "The Future of China;" "Are There Russian Influences in Japan?" "Controlling Subversive Activities in the U. S.;" "What Follows the Cold War?" "Foreign Policy in American Politics." The lectures will be given by members of the faculties of Princeton University and the Institute for Advanced Study.

9. Spanish
Conversational Spanish for beginners. Instructor: Miss Dorothea De Chiara, Princeton High School.

10. Physical Recreation for Women (limited to 35)
An hour of fun, recreation and relaxation, consisting of calisthenics, eurythmics (exercise to music) and the team sport of volleyball. Exercises and games you will enjoy and which will fit the needs of women who do not participate regularly in physical activity. Instructor: Miss Dorothy Peterson, Director of Girls Physical Education, Flemington High School.

11. Personal Typing (limited to 35)
The same course as 5, at the later hour.

12. Social Dancing
The same course as 7, at the later hour.

13. Photography
This course is for beginners. The basic techniques of still and motion picture photography will be studied, as well as fundamental dark room procedures. Wherever feasible, members will be given an opportunity to practice these elements during the class period. Members will supply their own materials. Darkroom equipment will be furnished. Instructor: Chester R. Stroup, Nassau Street School.

TWO-HOUR COURSES THURSDAYS, 8.00-9.55 P. M.

14. Shorthand (limited to 35)
This course for beginners will cover the basic principles of shorthand. To master shorthand outlines and to build up speed, faithful practice is required. Therefore be prepared to practice shorthand outside of school hours if you take this course. Instructor: Joseph Friel, Princeton High School.

15. Sketching and Painting (limited to 30)
A participation course for practical work and appreciation. Designed for two hours but may be taken for only one hour with the permission of the instructor. Instructor: Miss Edith Margerum, Princeton High School.

16. Sewing (limited to 24)
This course for beginners offers a knowledge of how to use the sewing machine, a pattern, as well as some short cuts or helps in simple sewing. Each person will work on a construction problem of her own choice, most of the work being done outside of class with class time for demonstration, questions and help on sewing problems. Instructor: Miss Elizabeth Gibson, Princeton High School.

SPECIAL COURSE FRIDAYS, 8.00-9.30 P. M. CLIO HALL, CAMPUS

17. Enjoyment of Music
This course is designed to increase your enjoyment of music, but it is not the usual type of music appreciation course. No previous knowledge of music is needed—only an interest in enjoying good music. The ten programs will be built around ten different types of music, such as ballet music, program music, American folk music, North European music, Central European music, movie and Easter music. Each program will include descriptions and comments. The Adult School is able to present this unusual course through the cooperation of the Department of Music, Princeton University. The course will meet on Friday evenings from 8.00 to 9.30 P. M. in Clio Hall on the Campus, in order to make use of the Music Department's fine record collection and record-playing equipment. The enrollment fee will be $5.00.
